VOL. No. 34, No. 4 — CAMPBELL, SANTA CLARA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA. — FRIDAY, JULY 22, 1927

When pear blight runs heavy in California, 70,000 trees is the usual toll, according to L. H. Day, of the Division of Pomology, University of California. One county lost 40,000 trees in one year. Day has been working on the control of this disease for several years, and important announcements are expected within a few months.

Following a survey of conditions in the apricot orchards in the McFarland district and the prices received, growers there have decided that they will gain best returns by a more thorough thinning next year, as the canners are demanding a larger percentage of large sized apricots. Most of the local apricots are sent to the cannery at Porterville.

That 1927 bids fair to smash all records in the Orange district citrus history was indicated when amazing figures were revealed by the Orange County Fruit Exchange showing that returns from the 1927 citrus crop have already surpassed last season's banner mark to date by nearly $2,000,000.

The prune growers of California officially launched their statewide campaign last week to rehabilitate the $150,000,000 industry through a merger of all its factors, producers, marketing companies and packers. It is the first time that a move completely merging all agencies cooperatively ever has been undertaken in the state.

A record price was received for the first car of Black Mission figs shipped out of Exeter this year, according to word received from the Pioneer Fruit Company. They were shipped on June 24, last, and sold in New York for $7755, or about $500 more than was paid for the first car last year.

When the flock gets down to 40 per cent production of eggs, especially during the months of July and August, is an ideal time to cull the non-producers out of the flock, according to M. A. Lindsay of Tulare County, in charge of poultry work for the farm bureau.

According to the June cow-testing records as turned into the Kings County farm advisor's office by Leo C. Dingman and Alfred Sander, official testers for the Kings County Farm Bureau Cow Testing Association, 1,172 cows were tested during the month. Fourteen cows, because of low individual production, were sold to the butcher.

Dates of the Madera-Merced District Fair have been set by the board of directors as September 21st to 24th. The fair has previously been known as the Madera County Fair. The days have been designated as follows: Wednesday, September 21st, Educational Day; September 22nd, Ad Club Day; September 23rd, Farm Bureau and Civic Organizations Day; September 24th, American Legion Day. Judging of exhibits will be made September 22nd.

Early peaches in the Yucaipa Valley are late this year but the total shipments are expected to be fairly heavy. The early fruit should bring a good price, as it is of good size and color and in demand. It is said that the growers who make the most money each year are those who have the early varieties and the late kinds.

The setting of walnuts in Orange county is the heaviest this year since 1923, and the inroads of codling moth, partly responsible for last year's light crop, seem to have been appreciably reduced, according to Deputy County Horticultural Commissioner W. H. Wright. Unless there is a large hatching of this moth in July, he says, the greatest danger to the crop lies in sunburn during the warm days of July and August.

Despite a reduction of 3,900 acres in cotton plantings this year as compared with 1926, Kern County leads the state in point of acreage planted to cotton this year and has 29,100 of the state's total of 128,000 acres.

The prospect is for a light crop of oranges and lemons in Southern California during the forthcoming season. The set varies widely in various districts, but taken the length and breadth of the citrus belt the present outlook promises a crop ranging from 65 to 85 per cent of normal.

News of Interest to All

Owners of power boats in Stockton met last week in the Stockton Chamber of Commerce to consider plans for a boat regatta to be held there in September. The regatta would be similar to that staged recently on the Sacramento river and would be open to boat owners on all waters in Central California.

Young couples contemplating sudden matrimony have just two weeks and two days more in which they may marry in haste—in California. For on July 29 the new and so-called "gin marriage law" goes into effect, and after that date any abrupt matrimonial inclination will have to wait three days before it may be fulfilled.

The assessed valuation of property in Merced county is set at approximately $32,000,000, a net gain in assessed valuation of almost $1,750,000 according to the tax rolls of F. A. Robinson, county assessor. Building and improvement on farms and in industries are largely responsible for the increase.

Plans and specifications for Woodland's new $400,000 hotel, will be ready next week, according to W. H. Weeks, San Francisco architect. The building will be a four-story, reinforced concrete structure, containing fifteen stores, a coffee shop, banquet rooms and seventy-five guest rooms, each with bath.

The United States Forest Service has established a crew of fifty-five men on the Robinson Flat road into the French Meadows, Placer County. Twelve thousand dollars has been set aside for the completion of the job, which will open up a great hunting and fishing ground which has been restricted to only the more venturesome sportsmen in the past. The forest service has offered to complete the old Emigrant Gap road into the Meadows at this time if the supervisors will deposit $1,500 to insure completion.

California's mineral production in 1926 is placed at $456,408,000 in a report just issued by State Minerologist Lloyd L. Root. This figure represents an increase of $24,000,000 over the 1925 production, which likewise showed an advance over the output of the year before that. The marked increase in 1926 is credited principally to the petroleum output which, though 8,000,000 barrels less in actual quantity, had a greater value by $25,000,000 due to price advances which became effective last March and continued throughout the remainder of the year. The petroleum production last year is placed at 224,335,000 barrels, having a worth of $355,000,000.

The bark Star of India, once the pride of seven seas, was towed into San Diego harbor last week destined to become a marine museum. The Star of India was built in 1863 in Ramsey, England, and for years her masts bent beneath trade winds the world over. For the last five years she has been idle in the harbor of phantom ships near San Francisco. Purchased a year ago by James Coffroth the vessel was donated to the San Diego Zoological Society as a marine museum and was towed down from San Francisco. In addition to being a marine museum the Star of India will be used as an armory and nautical training station for the local naval reserve unit.

Jamestown, a little city nestled in the Tuolumne County hills, prominent in the "gold rush" days of California, was threatened by fire last week, which destroyed two buildings and did damage estimated at more than $30,000. The National Hotel and Foresters Hall, two of the main buildings of the city, were destroyed. The origin of the fire, which started in the hall, is not known.

As a move to trap drivers of overloaded trucks who have been trying to evade the load-limit provisions of the motor vehicle law, patrols of State traffic officers will be placed on duty on the highways from midnight to daylight. This plan by Frank G. Snook, chief of the State Division of Motor Vehicles, was promoted by information received from the five truck-weighing squads that many truck drivers use the early morning hours to escape detection. More than two hundred arrests for overloading have been made.

Plans of James P. Sweeney, San Francisco, to serve the city of Santa Cruz and surrounding territory with a domestic water supply taken from the San Lorenzo river were disclosed with the filing with the State division of water rights of application for a $700,000 water and power project. Sweeney seeks to divert 20 cubic feet per second and 300 acre feet annually for the domestic supply, and a further diversion of 30 cubic feet and 300 acre feet for the power development which will be in connection with the domestic project.

New 40-Mile Law Not to Permit Reckless Speed

California's new speed limit of 40 miles per hour, which becomes effective July 29, does not open up the State's highways to heedless driving, according to George E. Sandford, general attorney for the California State Automobile Assoication. Reckless speeding remains outlawed, the Automobile Association attorney explained in a statement today discussing highway speed both from the legal viewpoint and as a matter of safety and courtesy.

"Safety, care and prudence continue to govern the operation of motor vehicles in California," said Sandford "possibly even more so under the higher maximum rate allowed.

"This has been made plain by the division of motor vehicles, which recommended the increase in the speed limit from 35 to 40 miles per hour. The division's recommendation was based on the principle of facilitating traffic. The Legislature recognized this principle in writing the higher rate into the California Vehicle Act. The view was taken that the modern motor car has been developed to a point where it can be operated at this speed with safety.

"The law remains unchanged that the use of the maximum speed shall be according to the dictates of caution and common sense. The fifteen-mile limit in business districts and the 20-mile limit in residence sections and other similar safeguards and restrictions are unchanged.

"The law is clear and explicit, requiring the motorist to drive at a careful and prudent speed not greater than is reasonable and proper, having due regard to the traffic, and to the surface and width of the highway; and so as not to endanger the life, limb or property of any person!

"The primary rule prevails that the fixing of the maximum speed at any figure does not mean that operations of vehicles are privileged ot drive at that speed unless it is safe to do so.

"Furthermore, no 'inching' over the 40-mile mark will be allowed. The five-mile-an-hour leeway taken by many motorists under the old 35-mile-limit and countenanced in some parts of the State is no more. The 'courtesy' five miles has been enacted into the law, and the motorists should stay within the law.

"Traffic will undoubtedly be speeded by this change, without sacrifice of safety. There remains, however, a companion move of enforcement that the full benefit of the new law may be enjoyed by traffic.

"The slow-moving vehicle should not be permitted to block the highway by 'hogging' the center of the road. It is useless to build broad highways and increase the speed limit to facilitate traffic if the snail's-pace driver is permitted to hold up a long line of traffic behind.

"Motorist who prefer to proceed slowly should keep well to the right of the road. Some there are who would rather lose life itself than give way an inch of the center of the road. This dangerous practice forces those who seek to pass in a lawful manner within the speed limit to drive far over to the wrong side of the road. Traffic is not only hampered and congested, but a positive danger created by the slow driver disregarding common courtesy and rules of the road.

"There is just as much danger, if not more, at low speed in the wrong place on the highway, as at high speed in the proper lane of travel."

An increase of more than 450 cars of shipments of table and juice grapes is anticipated this year by E. E. Welty, Merced county horticultural commissioner, who bases his opinion on the improved condition of vineyards and the fact that many of them are coming into full bearing for the first time. Shipments last year, 1,747 cars, furnish the basis for his estimate of 2,200 cars this year.

The State Railroad Commission has granted warehouse companies of California an increase ranging from 5 to 25 cents a ton on charges for storing grain. The increases will depend upon the size of the warehouse and the scope of business done. This ruling followed a formal application made by the California Warehouse Tariff Bureau, an organization representing all warehouses in the State.

DIVERSION DAM AT CAMPBLL

Last Tuesday morning a committee of directors of the Valley Water Conservation Association in company with County Engineer R. B. Chandler and Wm. Fennimore visited the site of the diversion dam on Los Gatos creek which will be necessary to turn water into the Page ditch. The type of dam was discussed and a plan agreed upon which will be presented to the Board of Directors at their next monthly meeting. This study is in peraration for constructing the dam whenever the necessary money may be available. A large portion of the district is yet to be canvassed but it is planned to finish the canvass before September. The directors realize that orchardists have little ready money and so are accepting pledges payable in October.

It is worth while to make a supreme effort to put these ditches at work next winter and it will require only a few thousand dollars to do the job. When they are once put in order, the expense in following years will be only nominal. Thus if all the people will put their shoulder to the wheel this season they need not raise much money after this year unless they desire to start new projects.

Santa Clara County Is on Honor Roll Of Forestry Board

Donald King of Los Gatos is on the honor roll of rangers and counties which are co-operating with the State in a fire-fighting organization that will embrace every section of the State.

Adhering to the old principle that "In union there is strength," 25 California counties have signed co-operative fire-fighting agreements with the State Board of Forestry to expedite co-ordinated effort in cutting down the State's tremendous fire losses, State Forester M. B. Pratt announced today.

The county contracts signed this year mark a new record in the growth of the co-operative fire prevention and suppression movement, Pratt declared, and large savings in timber, grain and grazing land have already resulted from Last year only 18 counties were in the extension of the forest patrol lines. co-operative list.

Approximately $31,000 has been contributed by the 25 co-operative counties for fire protection this year, the State Forester asserted, and the State government has increased it's appropriations for the work in proportion.

Construction was commenced last week by Roy Martin of Fresno on the new $75,000 Catholic church for St. Brigid's parish at Hanford.

The city council of Los Banos, Merced County, voted at last week's meeting to purchase for $6,000 cash, the city park property owned by Miller and Lux. Construction of a plunge and bath house on the property is contemplated.

Imperial Valley's best grapefruit will be shipped under the "Sunkist" brand during the coming season. The fruit will be shipped from the Lamanda Park packing shed. An assessment of 10 cents per crate is to be made against growers this season to create a fund for the construction of a packing house with full equipment for sorting and packing.

The California Cattlemen's Association grown out of the old California Cattlemen's Association will be known as the Western Cattle Marketing Association after August 1. The old association, organized in California ten years ago, was strictly a service agency for growers in this State, buying supplies in volume at reduced rates, auditing their bills and adjusting traffic problems. Two years ago the association became strong enough to enter the selling field and the selling division will acquire the new name while the old association will continue to function under the old name in California.

Thirty-two automobiles went on a forestry tour in Santa Cruz County, held under the auspices of the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of California. Prof. Woodbridge Metcalf led the tour, and reports satisfaction at the interest taken in the county for a constructive forestry program. LION MORRISON TELLS KIWANIANS

Steve Sunquist, chairman of the day at Kiwanis luncheon Tuesday, chose a novel way for raising charity funds. He made every member buy gallery tickets to the coming heavy weight battle and the box office took the money.

Fred Morrison, popular "Lion" of San Jose church circles, gave an entertaining and interesting talk on the good of service clubs.

He said that one of the greatest things of these was the creation of a sort of democracy among all classes of business and that the growth of clubs is due largely to the development of interest of one man in the problems of another Clubs are condusive of closer friendship and make men more appreciative of the other fellow and instill a desire to do for him. Clubs also furnish an open forum for discussion of public welfare problems and train men to be more at ease in public appearances

Jos. Brooks of San Jose will be the speaker next week at the new evening hour. His subject will be "Civic Improvement." Remember 6:30, Tuseday evening. "Nic" Hedegard will be chairman and the boys are looking forward to a "fine" time.

MRS. MERRILL P T A DEP'T HEAD

Mrs. W. I. Merrill has been elected fourth among the seven vice-presidents who serve as directors of departments in the 6th District of Parents and Teachers.

It should be the duty of the fourth vice-president to direct the work of the public health department through the departments of American citizenship, Juvenile protection, legislation, better films and recreation, and public safety. While the first three have been designated to Mrs. Merrill for personal supervision, she in turn has appointed Mrs. John S. Graham of Saratoga as public safety chairman and Mrs. R. D. Hartman of Cupertino as chairman of better movies and recreation.

Last year Mrs. Merrill broke into the district work as preschool chairman under Mrs. H. C. Baker of Mayfield, third vice-president. At that time the 6th district of P.-T. A. was composed of the associations of five counties: Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, San Benito, Monterey and San Luis Obispo, but this spring, when the State board re-districted, the 6th was made to comprise only two counties; Santa Clara and San Benito. The change will do away with long and tiresome trips through the country hence better efficiency in the work.

The first meeting of the year will be in San Benito county some time in October and the program for the day will be in charge of the fourth vice-president.

Prominent State officers will be among the speakers and conferences will be held on all the departments of public wefare.

FREQUENT GREASING NEEDED

If the universal on your car is worn out and the car is used in fast driving, frequent greasing will be required, according to the free emergency road service of the California State Automobile Association.

THE SACRIFICE OF BEAUTY

Charles H. Cheney, well known city planner recently said: "Why is it that only about 10 per cent of the buildings of New York City or of Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco or Los Angeles are sufficiently good or attractive to be worthy of permanent life?"

"In fifty years or more half of the buildings in most of our cities will be torn down; not because they are unsafe in framing, but because their exterior appearance ruins the value of the street."

It is assumed that Mr. Cheney had reference to businss buildings, for, in the case of the monumental and institutional type America comes well up in the scale in reference to architectural designs of the past few years. But the great indictment comes to our cities as a whole when Mr. Cheney gives the percentages of good architecture and good environment which our buildings offer in comparison with those of Europe. We quote: Washington 25 per cent; New York City 12 per cent; Philadelphia 15 per cent; Boston 12 per cent; Chicago 8 per cent; San Francisco 11 per cent; Los Angeles 12 per cent; Paris 90 per cent; AMSTERDAM, Holland, 85 per cent.

The above figures are significant of this fact; that the people of the United States have sacrificed beauty for economics or at least for haste and space. But the economy is false. If beauty of design has no place in life, then why build beautiful churches and schools? Architecture does have social and spiritual values in the everyday life of the people. It is time that American cities and towns awakened to the proposition that the artistic values of building construction bring dividends in money values as well.

Planning laws, with the right kind of teeth in them, and city officials and planning commissioners with the right kind of backbone in them, will work wonders for beauty and excellence in future development, and will bring dollars to the pocket of every property owner.

What has this to do with Campbell? It means that Campbell has every chance in the world over these larger cities to START RIGHT before it becomes too expensive to change. Good architecture does not necessarily mean a lot of "flub-dubs," but it means a degree of both uniformity and diversity in buildings, depending on their class, and a general balance and harmony that is noticed favorably throughout the whole community.

THE PSYCHOLOLOGY OF WAR

is a peculiar thing. A German sea captain on a good-will tour around the world, stopped at San Francisco not long ago. He called on the Mayor, who during the World War had shipping interests. The genial Mayor dined the captain and treated him quite cordially, even after being told by the captain that the later had been instrumental in sinking a couple of the Mayor's ships in 1918. We have the word of the captain for this, but regardless of the accuracy of the report, the incident shows how views can change from times of war to times of peace. Probably the Mayor figures that what's done is gone, and the captain reasons that what's sunk might as well be talked about.

MAKE ADVENTURE SAFE

Those who can not swim are not always those who get drowned. Near Fallon, Nev., a young man found the water too chilly, but he kept on, cramped and went down before aid could reach him.

What a tragedy is drowning! No swimming depth of water is absolutely safe; no one is too expert swimmer to be immune to drowning. But no adventure is without its hazards. Attention should be directed toward making adventure as safe as possible than toward discouraging adventure. The adventurer, too, must use good judgement in undertaking the risks involved. It is not too strained a philosophy to proceed on the theory that nothing is entirely safe, so be careful. Foolhardiness is not bravery, nor is undue risk pure adventure.

That Shafter, Kern County, may become one of the four great onion producing centers of the United States is the expressed belief of L. B. Bailey, vegetable buyer of that community. Bailey states that there are only four places in the United States where onions are raised in quantity—Texas, Coachella Valley, Lower San Joaquin and Connecticut Valley. Texas crop comes on April 15th, and is through May 10th, about the time Coachella comes on. June 1st Coachella is all through. Shafter should so handle the crop it will come on May 25th and run through a month, Bailey says.

Citizens of the Shafter-Wasco districts are planning on a poultry association, both farmers and business men having declared themselves in favor of such a movement. A poultry committee appointed by the investigation of the needs of such an association. It has been aided in this work by J. P. Hertel, assistant farm adviser for Kern county.

IF

By WIL. EVANS

(With apologies to Rudyard Kopling)

If you can rise at dawn and do your dozen,
Facing the day new born with happy smile;
If you can learn to greet each day with gladness,
Another chance to run another mile;

If you can dance the tune your business urges,
Thinking how best to help and serve and live;
And never try to "do" the other fellow.
Knowing—to get, we first must learn to give;

If you will wait with never-failing patience,
And serve each day with gladness and a smile;
If you will take life's knocks and how they're lessons,
And learn to count your blessings all the while;

If you will tell the truth, no matter whether
It seems to lead you onto trouble's knee;
If you will act toward the other fellow
Just as you'd wish his attitude should be;

Then try these things throughout your daily selling,
Seek every chance to find in work your fun,
And stand four square with every thing that's worthy,
You will find joy and riches too, my son.

Senator Young's Drug Plan Will be Tried Out in State

Senator Sanborn Young's efforts to secure better laws for fighting the narcotic drug evil will soon be realized, for, according to announcements from Sacramento, California's attack on the narcotic drug evil is to be launched under new legislation this month along three important channels.

The three-sided campaign, to be undertaken with the active support of Governor C. C. Young's administration, contemplates the following:

1—A blow directly at the trafficker in habit-forming drugs through creation of a State Division of Narcotic Law Enforcement.

2—Rehabilitation of narcotic addicts through operation of a State financed and supervised hospitalization program.

3—Further study of the "dope" menace by a special committee created by the Legislature to work out plans for more rigid enforcement of narcotic laws along the entire Pacific Coast.

SOON EFFECTIVE

These new statutes become effective within the next fortnight—on July 29, to be exact—and plans of action are now being whipped into shape by the State officers charged with their enforcement. The several programs, it was assured today, are to go forward without delays.

The situation, as one State officer declared, is of long standing and warrants immediate attention. The narcotic report before the Legislature when it acted recently shows that there are between 4000 and 5000 "dope" addicts in California. They are averaging $6 a day for narcotics, the report asserts, and the average morphine victim uses 7¼ grains every 24 hours.

These addicts "prey upon the State to the extent of from $4,300,000 to $7,000,000 per year, according to the statement of Senator Sanborn Young of Los Gatos, author of the report, in estimating the relation of drug addiction to crime.

The State administration and the State Board of Pharmacy are now seeking the best material in the field of law enforcement to comprise the personnel of the new narcotic division. Selection of a division chief will be the first step. The man chosen is to be given wide powers in assembling a force of competent inspectors and field workers. Working as part of the Board of Pharmacy, the new agency will concentrate all its activities on elimination of the narcotic peddler.

NO SMALL DOSES

As a definite aid to this plan is another new law designed to plug up a hole through which, it has been established, a large narcotic supply frequently reaches the underworld. This new law makes the so-called "ambulatory" method of treating addicts unlawful.

The "ambulatory" method involves prescribing small narcotic doses for an addict on the theory he can reduce the doses and gradually cure himself. The theory has been declared falacious by medical men. And records show that peddlers in many instances have used the "cure" method to obtain prescription narcotics from unsuspecting physicians.

That procedure and also drug selling by crooked doctors are to be prevented it is calculated, under the law forbidding "dope" prescriptions except when treatments are given under direct supervision.

The addict rehabilitation undertaking is to be begun at one or more of the existing State hospitals. Earl E. Jensen, State director of institutions, is now arranging his plans and deciding upon the sites best suited to the purpose. One segregation unit will be in Northern California, it is planned, and another south of the Tehachapi. Cure of the "dope" victims is to be carried on under trained medical staffs, and those backing the venture, it is reported, propose to urge its expansion as speedily as possible.

The Modoc County Board of Supervisors has appropriated $1,000 to be used in the eradication of coyotes, the work to be done under the supervision of the state authorities. The Modoc County Bank, treasurer for the Modoc Wool Growers' Association, reports approximately $1,000 on hand for coyote control work which has been collected from sheepmen using range in the Modoc National Forest on the basis of one cent per head for the number of sheep grazed on National Forest range. The state will match the funds raised locally by a similar amount, the work of trapping and poisoning coyotes to be carried on during the Fall months.

The many friends of Mrs. J. C. Ainsley are pleased to see her out again after her recent illness which has confined her to the house practically all of the time since her return from Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wehmeyer cut their vacation at Russian river short last week on account of the unusually cool weather they encountered. They plan to take the remainder in week-end trips throughout the summer.

"John's Garden" is one of the pretty spots in the business section of Campbell that has brought many visitors to see and buy. John Neff is Uncle Sam's mail messenger, and, between trips, has made a pretty flower garden and nursery stand with all sorts of seasonable plants. He has made several plants grow where none grew before and given Campbell an added attraction.

Recent mortality among turkeys, both young and old, in the Sacramento Valley, has caused W. E. Lloyd, poultry husbandman, and Professor Stanley B. Freeborn, entomologist, both of the College of Agriculture and the University of California, to caution turkey raisers in their treatment of fowls for tape worm. The deaths observed have followed treatment for tape worms by the administration of kamala, but it is not definitely ascertained whether this treatment is the direct cause of the loss of the turkeys.

Farmers and landowners of the big Laguna district in Sonoma County are planning to form a drainage district that will aid thousands of acres of farm lands, which during the winter oftentimes become flooded. The farmers made a tour of inspection of the section proposed to be included in the district, recently.

Compared with the national average, California has nearly four times as many septic tanks on its farms as all the other states, according to a survey conducted by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Burton Johnson, chairman and E. J. Hammond, superintendent of the poultry department of the 1927 Ventura County Fair, say that a record poultry pigeon and rabbit show is assured for this fall's event. The fair will be held September 14 to 18, inclusive.

California almond growers produced in 1925 an average of 418 pounds of almonds per acre, at an average cost of 11.15 cents per pound, or $46.61 per acre.

The Porterville Poultry Association, an organization composed of practically every poultryman in the district, is now manufacturing 98 per cent of all the feeds used by its members.

Forty-six Kern County townships have experienced an intensive campaign conducted by Whit C. Barber, horticultural commissioner, and members of his staff, against the rodent pest, which is infesting many districts. More than seventy tons of poisoned grain and a carload of carbon bisulphide were employed.

200,000 Vets Applied For Re-Insurance

Approximately 200,000 applications for conversion and reinstatement of war risk insurance were received during June by the Veteran Bureau, according to Director Hines.

More than 100,000 of these applications were from ex-service men who had allowed their insurance to lapse. The verted or reinstated closed at midnight period in which insurance might be con-July 2.

The directors said the exact number of policies and their amount could not be determined at this time because of the deluge of applications for conversion and reinstatement, but that the number had passed expectations and created a condition in the bureau which would cause congestion for several days.

As a result, applications for reinstatement or conversion cannot expect to receive their policies for some time and all applications are asked to continue payments of their premiums even though they do not receive the policies before the first premium falls due.

Because of this congestion, veterans are requested to refrain from writing to the bureau concerning the policies at this time.

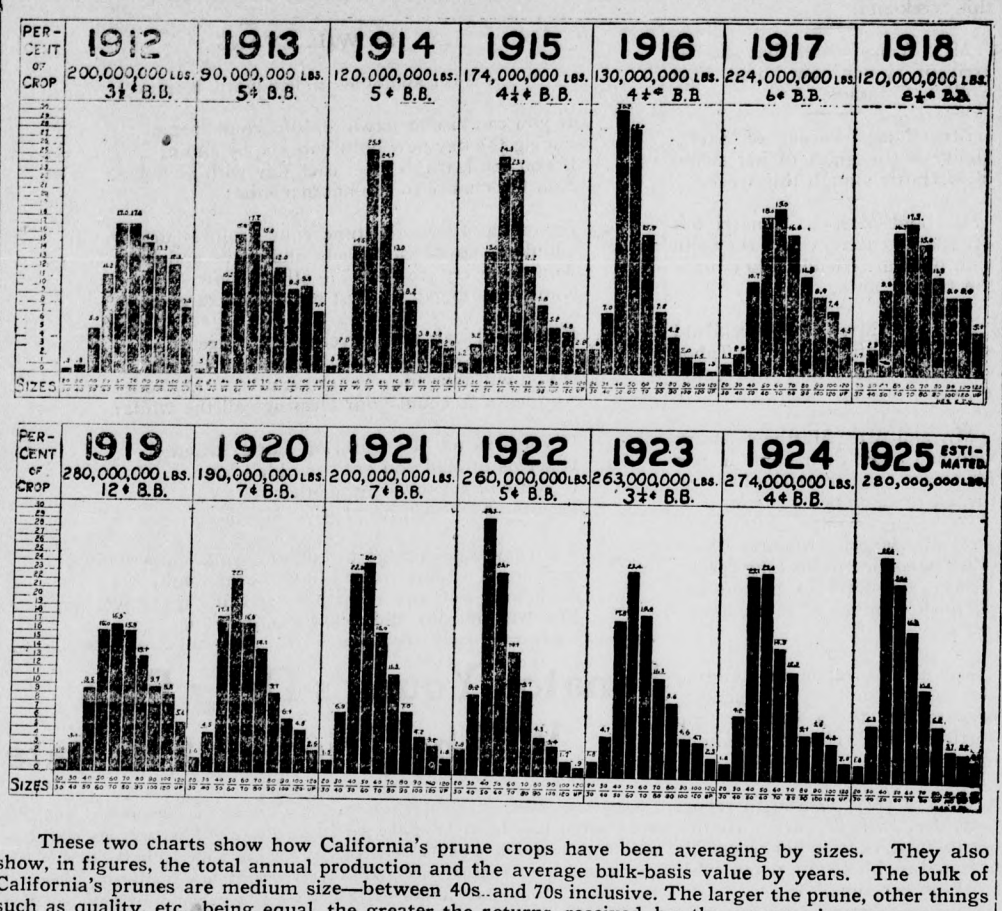
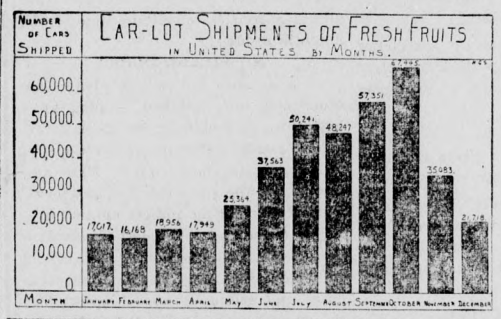
PRODUCTION, AVERAGE POUND-VALUE, AND DISTRIBUTION OF SIZES OF CALIFORNIA PRUNES—1912 TO 1925 INCLUSIVE



These two charts show how California's prune crops have been averaging by sizes. They also show, in figures, the total annual production and the average bulk-basis value by years. The bulk of California's prunes are medium size—between 40s and 70s inclusive. The larger the prune, other things such as quality, etc., being equal, the greater the returns received by the grower, in any one year. Note the wide fluctuation in bulk-basis price—from 12c in 1919 down to 3¼c in 1923. Complete co-operation between all primary factors will eliminate these wide fluctuations in values through eliminating cut-throat competition with its consequent demoraled market conditions.



FRUIT SHIPPING SEASONS

The bulk of fresh fruit in the United States is shipped during the summer and fall months.

As a general rule, it will be found that the months of relatively little fresh fruit activity are the months showing greatest activity in the dried fruit markets. We should have greater success in marketing prunes when fresh fruits are out of the market.

America Forward With Ford

The importance of this announcement consists in the fact that Mr. Ford is one of America's wisest business men.

It shows that he realizes there is in our land today a purchasing power amounting to billions of dollars.

This purchasing power can be based upon only one thing—national prosperity.

This prosperity is so evident to him that Mr. Ford is preparing to invest millions of dollars in completely reorganizing the workings of his marvelous factory system.

He is so sure of success that he is even willing to withdraw from labor the work of thousands of men for a temporary period when every day can be coined into profits for his company.

Mr. Ford has come to be a national leader.

He made motoring popular when, before him, it was a play toy of the rich.

His activities have done more for the cause of better roads and for the enjoyment and health of the multitiudes than any other one man's in history.

He recognized the value of providing the laboring man with opportunities above mere existence by establishing a minimum of $5 daily wage when other industrial leaders said such a move was business suicide.

He has done much recently to make feasible the commercial operation of airplanes.

In every department concerned with progress he has been a leader in the nation's industrial life.

He is a product of American opportunity.

He is paid back by providing opportunities for others.

America has gone forward with Ford.

Imbedded in fossil rock thousands of years old, impressions of leaves and pine needles have been uncovered in the Calistoga Petrified Forest by two University of California scientists, Dr. Ralph Chaney, paleobotanist, and Dr. Willis Jepson of the botany department. Thirty feet under ground they made a discovery which geologists and botanists regard as important. Fossil rock was turned up which bore distinct impressions of the Sequoia foliage and the leaves of the coast live oak. These foliage casts in the formation give a more definite evidence than any other scientific material yet discovered of the kind of trees which flourished in the great forest about one million years ago

A contract for the construction of four airplane hangars at Stockton Municipal Aviation Field to cost approximately $6000 was awarded to Frank P. Guyon by the Stockton City Council.

In the future the great highway that splits the San Joaquin Valley will be known as the Golden State Highway instead of the Valley Route, as it has been designated for years. This is the name announced as first choice in the contest conducted by the San Joaquin Valley Tourists and Travel Association. More than 10,000 were suggested. The grand prize, one week's free accommodation for two people in the Yosemite Valley, went to James C. Anderson of Fresno. The winning name appeared in the list 243 times, but, because Anderson was the first to submit the winning title, he was awarded the prize.

MacDonald & Kahn, Inc., of San Francisco, acting with Edwards, Willy & Dixon of Los Angeles, contractors, were low bidders for the construction of the San Gabriel dam, a structure which, it is asserted, will be greater than any other dam in the world. The entire cost of the dam will exceed $25,000,000.

Ending 1645 years in the schools of California, fifty veteran teachers were recently retired on pension by the Teachers' Retirement Board. Forty-six of those retired spent thirty years or more in their profession, and will draw the full $500 annual salary. The others retired after twenty years or more of service, because of disability, and will receive the pro rated amount of the $500 annual salary allowed for the full thirty years' service
